'Police Mobilize For Showdown In South Africa

Negroes Warned Against Boycott

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Police mobilized all their forces in South Africa Sunday to prevent or crush a week-long Negro work boycott called for Monday.

Warnings went out to Negroes that they face loss of their jobs and banishment to native reserves in the interior if they join the boycott called as a protest against white supremacy laws.

A real showdown, however, may wait until Tuesday, Easter Monday is a work holiday for most people.

The stay-at-home movement was ordered by the now-outlawed African National Congress in an effort to pressure the Nationalist government into easing its segregation policies, abolishing its pass system for Negroes and releasing jailed leaders of the banned African organizations.

Police promised to protect all Negroes who want to go to work and to arrest intimidators trying to keep them home forcibly.

The Johannesburg Golden City Post, a Sunday paper for Negroes, said Johannesburg police already have arrested a large number of Africans for distributing stay-at-home pamphlets.

Other press reports said the South African government is considering ways of sealing its frontiers with the free British protectorates — Swaziland, Basutoland and Bechuanaland — to prevent more alleged subversives from escaping to asylum.

Many thousand South Africans attended Easter church services, which also were broadcast over the state-controlled radio. The coastal resorts were jammed with Easter weekenders.

In Cape Town, Anglican Bishop Joost de Blank said in an Easter interview with the Johannesburg Sunday Times: "What is needed is official rejection of policies of compulsory apartheid — racial segregation — which have brought the South African nation to the brink of disaster and have put continuing progress of the Christian Church in Africa in gravest jeopardy. It is this repudiation that the whole of Africa is waiting for."

Christendom Celebrates Resurrection

Millions Bedecked In Easter Finery Throng Churches

By The Associated Press

Christians around the world celebrated the glory of the risen Christ Easter Sunday with sacred church and pomp-laden outdoor services.

For millions, Easter also meant the debut of new spring finery. A million and a half persons jammed New York's Fifth Avenue — turned into a people-to-people mall — for the annual Easter parade.

Weather marred much of the nation's celebration as storms ripped across half a dozen Midwestern states. Snow fell in Iowa and parts of Wisconsin and Illinois.

Despite Communist newspaper criticism of Orthodox clergy, thousands attended Russian church services.

Mindszenty Celebrates Mass

Christians in other Iron Curtain countries also attended church. In Budapest, the primate of Hungary Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, celebrated Mass in the U. S. legation, where he has lived since taking shelter there in the 1956 Hungarian revolt.

In Rome, Pope John XXIII, speaking to 150,000 persons in St. Peter's Square, apparently referred to racial strife when he said: "And our sorrowing gaze turns also to the other children of God everywhere, suffering because of race or economic conditions, at once complex and giving reason for anxiety, or through the limitation on the exercise of their natural and civil rights."

Services Held On U.S. Bases

In the Far East, traditional Easter services were held on U. S. bases and broadcast over service-operated radio stations. Christians of many nationalities worshipped side by side in Japan, Korea and on Pacific islands.

President Eisenhower and his family attended services at Reid Memorial Presbyterian church in Augusta, Ga. They heard the Rev. Charles H. Gibboney appeal to God to "bind up, we pray Thee, the open wounds of the world."

New York's Easter parades were well-behaved and there was almost none of the carnival spirit of some years ago. A strict police order kept commercial advertising and crackpots off the avenue this year.

Stolen Fireworks Blast Kills Youth

CORTLAND, N.Y. (UPI)—One teen-ager was killed and two others injured Sunday when stolen fireworks exploded in their automobile.

Jack Bush, 14, of Cortland, was killed. James Augier, 14, also of Cortland, lost his left leg in the blast and was reported in critical condition at Cortland Memorial Hospital. Walter Pierce, 17, also of Cortland RD 3, driver of the car, was reported in satisfactory condition.

The trio broke into a shop here where fireworks are manufactured and loaded about 30 bombs into the back seat of the car, police said.

One of the youths tried to throw a bomb from the car as they were driving along a road on the outskirts of town. But the bomb ended up on the back seat and exploded, touching off the other bombs.

Five Persons Die In One-Car Md. Accident

By The Associated Press

Five persons were killed late Sunday night when their car slammed into a tree and flew apart near Sharpsburg in Washington County.

State Police said the victims of the one-car accident apparently were all from Hagerstown. They were taken to the Washington County Hospital where troopers were attempting to make positive identification.

Police said the car ran off a sharp curve on Maryland 34, about one mile south of Sharpsburg toward Shepherdstown, W. Va. They said the body of the car separated from the frame and the motor was thrown out by the impact.

All occupants of the car were killed instantly.

The Sharpsburg accident boosted the number of Easter weekend highway deaths in the state to 13 and sent the number of highway fatalities in 1960 to 155, compared to 154 for the same period last year.

Richard Hammett Guy, 21, of Clements, Md. died early Sunday in a Washington hospital. State Police said he was fatally injured April 15 when his car collided with another vehicle on Maryland 237 in St. Marys County.

Demo Group Urges Foreign Student Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Democratic Advisory Council recommended Sunday that American colleges admit half a million foreign students a year as part of a more comprehensive foreign aid program.

Education of foreign students in the United States with American tax dollars "would be far more effective, dollar-for-dollar, than the same amount turned over to other governments for the same purposes," the council said in a pamphlet.

Wayward Capsule Still Whirling Around Earth

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Discoverer XI satellite and its wayward capsule — which was far parachuted seaward Saturday near Hawaii — are still whirling around the earth in egg-shaped orbits.

The 300-pound package of instruments separated from its mother satellite as scheduled on the 17th trip over the Arctic Circle.

But instead of dropping into the atmosphere where C119 Flying Boxcars were waiting to snag its parachute on trapezes slung beneath their fuselages, the capsule stayed close to its mother ship and became a baby satellite.

The Air Force, which launched Discoverer XI here Friday, said "Some unknown malfunction occurred at a critical point just after separation."

This is a technical way of saying certain secret devices, designed to slow the capsule down enough so it would fall to earth, just didn't work.

The Air Force spokesman said radio signals from the capsule — and radar tracking stations on the ground — confirmed that the capsule remained in orbit after separation.

The 1,700-pound satellite — the entire second stage of the Thor-boosted Discoverer — is expected to fall back into the atmosphere and disintegrate early next week.

This was the 10th attempt to recover an object from orbit, a key step in learning how to send men into space and back in the future. There was no capsule in the first Discoverer rocket. Seven of the 11 shots have achieved polar orbit but various technical failures have blocked recovery of a capsule.

Fidel Suggests Meeting With Ike Or Herter

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro was quoted Sunday as having said relations between the United States and Cuba could be improved if he could have a private meeting with President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Castro, who has been leading a 10-day search for insurgents in the Sierra Maestra, turned up at the mountain town of El Caney 20 miles south of Bayamo, and participated in the dedication of a rural school.

An American radio correspondent, Richard Bates of the Columbia Broadcasting System, said Castro gave him the statement on Cuban-U. S. relations. Bates said the comment appeared to be made not as a formal bid or request for such a meeting with Eisenhower or Herter but rather as backgrounding on the situation between Cuba and the United States.

The school dedicated was a memorial to Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, Castro's army chief who disappeared in an airplane accident several months ago.

Bates said Castro arrived at El Caney by automobile and left the same way. He indicated he was not returning to the mountains where Castro said his campesinos — peasants — could easily handle the insurgent bands.

Castro was quoted as saying a heavy concentration of regular troops in the mountainous region of eastern Cuba resulted from a desire to help train militiamen to hunt down insurgents, a desire to give regular troops combat training and to be on the alert for possible landings of invaders.

When asked from where an invasion might come, Castro mentioned the Dominican Republic and then was quoted as saying: "And lately President Eisenhower and Herter have been making strong remarks against us."

It was at this time, Bates said, that Castro suggested a meeting with the American President or the secretary of state might settle some of the differences between the two countries.

Bates said Castro told him he personally had seen some American light planes flying over the mountain area in which Castro has been leading the pursuit of insurgent bands.

He added, however, that none of Castro's troops had seen the planes drop anything.

Bates said Castro told him he had made some "important disclosures" but could not talk about them at this time.

Castro, he said, stated he planned to make a major speech in Havana on May 1 "and I will make some important disclosures at that time."

Curfew Relaxed

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Police in Masan relaxed the curfew Sunday and schools planned to reopen as the southern port city returned to normal after violent antigovernment demonstrations last week.

Rock 'n' Roll Singer Eddie Cochran Dies In Crash Of Taxicab

BATH, England (AP)—American rock 'n' roll singer Eddie Cochran, 21, was killed in a taxi crash Sunday, a few hours after his last bow before screaming teen-agers.

With fellow singer Gene Vincent, he was dashing by cab to London Airport for the trip home to Los Angeles at the end of a 13-week British tour.

A tire blew out, sending the cab swerving crazily from side to side of the highway before it smashed backwards into a lamp post.

Cochran and Vincent were thrown out with their fellow passengers, Patrick Tompkins, manager of their British tour, and Sharon Sheeley, 20, Hollywood song writer.

Wreckage was scattered 200 yards up the road. Cochran and Vincent were stretched out side by side. Not far away, Miss Sheeley lay moaning.

All were taken to a hospital. Cochran, with head and internal injuries, died on the operating table.

Earlier Cochran was singing "C'mon Everybody" to a wildly cheering audience of youngsters packed into the Hippodrome Theater at Bristol.

Vincent, 25, former merchant seaman from Norfolk, Va., suffered a fractured collar bone.

"I was asleep in the back of the car after taking some sleeping pills," he said in the hospital. "I didn't get any warning of the crash." He hoped to be out of the hospital in a few days.

Miss Sheeley came on the tour to study Cochran's style so she could write some songs for him. She and Cochran were schoolchildren together. She suffered pelvic and back injuries. Hospital officials said she and Tompkins were recovering.

The cab driver, George Martin, was unhurt.

Cochran's manager, Norman Riley, said he had notified the singer's mother, Mrs. Frank Cochran, at Buena Park, Calif., a Hollywood suburb.

In Hollywood, St. Waronker, chairman of the board of Liberty Records, said Cochran had worked for the firm since he was 17.

Among Cochran's top records, he said, were "Cut Across Shorty," "Sittin' In the Balcony," and "Summertime Blues."

Brown, pastor of the First Christian church of Portland, Ore., had asked the views of Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, on charges made not only against ministers but against the council.

The manual said that the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. has sponsored a revised standard version of the Bible. It said that 95 persons who served in this project, 30 had records of affiliation with pro-Communist fronts of various kinds.

Kennedy said that until charges of this kind have been eliminated, "every hate group in the country will claim some justification for questioning the undivided allegiance of our Protestant pastors or national council leaders."

"The manual itself, moreover, represents a flagrant violation of the constitutional principle of separating church and state," he said. "No church should undertake to impose its views on public agencies; and no public agency should single out for attack any church or church organization. Under the First Amendment our government cannot — directly or indirectly, carelessly or intentionally — select any religious body for either favorable or unfavorable treatment."

Six Killed In Head-On Ohio Crash

CENTERBURG, Ohio (AP)—Six persons, including two children, were killed Sunday in a two-car, head-on collision about two miles north of this geographical center of Ohio.

The Ohio Highway Patrol tentatively identified the victims as: Emory Blevins, 30, of Mansfield, driver of one car; his wife, Hilda, 24; their two sons, about 4½ and 2; Marie Salyer, 24, Centerburg, driver of the second car, and her sister, Francis Salyer, 20, also of Centerburg.

Two Blevins children, Janet, 3½, and Pamela Sue, 2, survived the accident. They were reported in fair condition at Children's Hospital, Columbus.

The patrol said Mr. and Mrs. Blevins also had a fifth child, whose whereabouts is not known.

The accident occurred at the crest of a slight knoll on Ohio Highway, 314. The Blevins family was southbound and the Salyer sisters were northbound, the patrol said.

U.S. Reds May Run Candidate For President

By JAMES DEVLIN

NEW YORK (AP)—The Communist party is thinking of running a candidate of its own for president, for the first time in 20 years.

But Gus Hall, the nation's top Red, says there are "so many laws of limitation on minority parties in so many states" that a nationwide campaign may not be possible.

In New York, for example, a minority party requires 12,000 nominating signatures, including at least 50 from each of the state's 62 counties.

Communist sources say there is no clear-cut federal ban on a presidential candidate, adding that the so-called Communist Control Act of 1954 has never been tested in this connection.

The legislation stripped the Communist Party of all legal rights, including that of being listed on a voting ballot. It does not, however, make membership in the Communist Party itself a criminal act.

Chatting in his office, Hall said the possibility of putting up a candidate was discussed at length by the party's national committee at a recent meeting in Chicago.

He said there was no opposition to the idea, but only the question of whether it technically would be possible.

"The question is not yet resolved," he said.

He did not indicate whether he or some other party official might be the candidate.

The party's last candidate for the presidency was Earl Browder, in 1940.

A Communist candidate would be accorded no chance of winning, but would be in a position to publicize the Communist line of peace, civil rights, advancement of labor and the "loosening" of monopolies.

Hall, former Midwest secretary of the party, was chosen national secretary to succeed Eugene Dennis at the party's convention here last December.

Congress Starts Drive For Final Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress returns from its briefest Easter recess in years this week to start the home-stretch drive for final adjournment.

Most of the action is scheduled for the House, where leaders have served notice that legislative dilly-dallying must end if Congress is to adjourn before the big political conventions start on July 11.

Actually there was no Easter vacation. Instead of the customary 10-day layoff, Congress took a breather from last Thursday until Monday—the normal weekend respite.

There will be little if any activity in either branch Monday however, for the Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox open the American League baseball season here and most lawmakers hold tickets.

On Tuesday, the House will consider more than 50 minor bills before taking up a bill appropriating $8,146,000,000 for a score or more of federal agencies. The money bill includes numerous controversial allotments and probably won't be disposed of until Wednesday.

It will be followed by a multi-billion-dollar foreign aid authorization bill which could keep the House busy the rest of the week. The aid measure is certain to be the target of many members who insist it's time to cut down on foreign financial assistance.

The House will lay the aid measure aside briefly on Thursday to take final action on a civil rights bill passed originally by the House and amended by the Senate.

The Senate's floor docket for the week is comparatively light, the only major bill in the offing being the annual Treasury-Post Office appropriation.

Pontiff Raps False Ideas Of Social Life

Easter Message Calls Men To Peace Of Risen Christ

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII on this Easter Sunday called men to the peace of the risen Christ in a world troubled by racial intolerance and atheistic communism.

The 78-year-old supreme ruler of the Roman Catholic Church assailed violence and acts of oppression which he said arose from false ideas of social life plaguing mankind.

About 150,000 persons, including pilgrims and tourists from many lands, gathered in an intermittent rain in the great square of St. Peter's to hear the Pope speak from the outdoor loggia.

Radio and Eurovision, the European television network, brought both the Pope's image and words to millions more throughout the world.

Racial Strife Deplored

Obviously referring to racial strife involving Negroes, the Pope said: "And our sorrowing gaze turns also to the other children of God everywhere, suffering because of race or economic conditions, at once complex and giving reason for anxiety, or through the limitation on the exercise of their natural and civil rights."

During Holy Week Pope John has given silent but eloquent criticism of racial disturbances.

On Holy Thursday he knelt to wash and dry and kiss the feet of 13 student priests in emulation of Christ's washing the feet of his disciples. For the first time the youthful priests included Negroes, a Japanese, West Indians and a Polynesian.

Before he spoke he sent special Easter greetings to ailing Laurian Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika, first Negro elevated to priesthood in the Church. He has been ill in a Rome hospital since he received his red hat last month.

Refers To Communism

Turning to communism, the Pope declared: "On one side stands Christ, together with his representatives, and his followers in the church, raised up in holiness and brotherly love. And with the Church thus blessed there abide sound doctrine, truth, justice and peace."

But on the other side, he said, "rallying support, is the anti-Christian spirit which is error, a false idea of personal and social life, excessive power and even physical violence, evil and ruinous disaster."

He added sadly: "such is the condition of life here on earth." Before speaking to the people, the pontiff had participated in an Easter Sunday Mass attended by 30,000 in the great basilica. Among them was more than a score of cardinals.

The Pope concluded his message by giving his apostolic blessing of "urbis et orbi," to the city of Rome and the world.

Body Of Baby Boy Mailed To Couple

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The body of a 10-pound baby boy was found Saturday night when Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Goss opened a parcel post package delivered to their home in fashionable Millcreek, a suburb.

The package had been mailed in Dallas, Tex., April 12. It bore the return name and address of Mary Sue Goss, 3522 Wycliff, Dallas.

Police quoted a woman living at the address, a widow about 55 years old, as saying she knew nothing about it.

The package was addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goss, RR3, Box 18-A, Salt Lake City. There is no such address, so the post office delivered it to the Goss residence at 2212 East 3020 South.

Mr. and Mrs. Goss told police they have never lived in Dallas and know no one there.

Bandit Dressed As Priest Robs N.Y. Warehouse

NEW YORK (AP)—A bandit dressed as a priest pulled an Easter holdup of a Queens warehouse Sunday and made off with $2,000 and several bottles of whisky.

Joseph D'Amico, 28, a watchman at Hyman's Express Co. in the Jamaica section of Queens, said the man in a priest's dress along with three other men approached him in front of the warehouse.

"My son," said the bandit, "do as you're told and you won't get hurt."

The man dressed as a priest asked if there was any liquor, and D'Amico directed them to a shipment stored in the warehouse. They took several bottles, he said, and fled.

23 Rescued Seamen Spend Quiet Easter

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Twenty-three crew members of the Lebanese freighter Ethel C — rescued 13 hours after the ship sank Saturday off the Virginia coast — spent a quiet Easter resting in a local hotel.

Most of the men attended midnight services at a Greek Orthodox Church here a few hours after Coast Guard vessels brought them to Norfolk. The skipper is a naturalized American citizen, of Greek origin, and 21 of the crew members are from Greece. The radio operator is a British subject.

The 329-foot freighter was en route from New York to Newport News, Va., with a cargo of scrap iron when it sank.

Caravias said there was a noise about 10 p. m. Friday in the No. 4 hold, where heavy metal motor blocks were stowed with other scrap. A hole was punched in the vessel's bottom, and the ship started taking water almost immediately.

A distress signal was sent out and Caravias ordered the crew to abandon ship shortly after 1 a. m. Saturday. The crew boarded a life boat and a raft. They remained in the two small vessels until a Navy plane spotted them and Coast Guard vessels picked them up about 2 p. m.

C Of C Group Raps School Classroom Shortage Reports

Council Says Federal Aid Not Needed

WASHINGTON (AP)—An organization strongly opposed to federal aid to education said Sunday that reports of the classroom shortage have been grossly exaggerated.

The Council of State Chambers of Commerce said, "Solution of the classroom shortage problem is already well under way without federal assistance."

"In a few more years elimination of the problem will be so clearly in sight that enactment of a federal aid measure would be absurd," it added.

A spokesman for the National Education Assn., a group which favors massive federal support for public schools, accused the council of "playing with figures."

The council, in a statement sent to its 29 member organizations, said advocates of federal aid to education "are at least as interested in getting federal funds for paying teachers' salaries as they are in school construction assistance."

The council said the classroom shortage has not only failed to grow over the past five years as predicted, but has actually declined, and gave two reasons: "First, the communities and states have provided for the construction of far more classrooms each year than the many so-called authorities argued would be the case."

Sen. Johnson Regains Most Dixie Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly all is forgiven and nearly all of the South is drifting back to Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

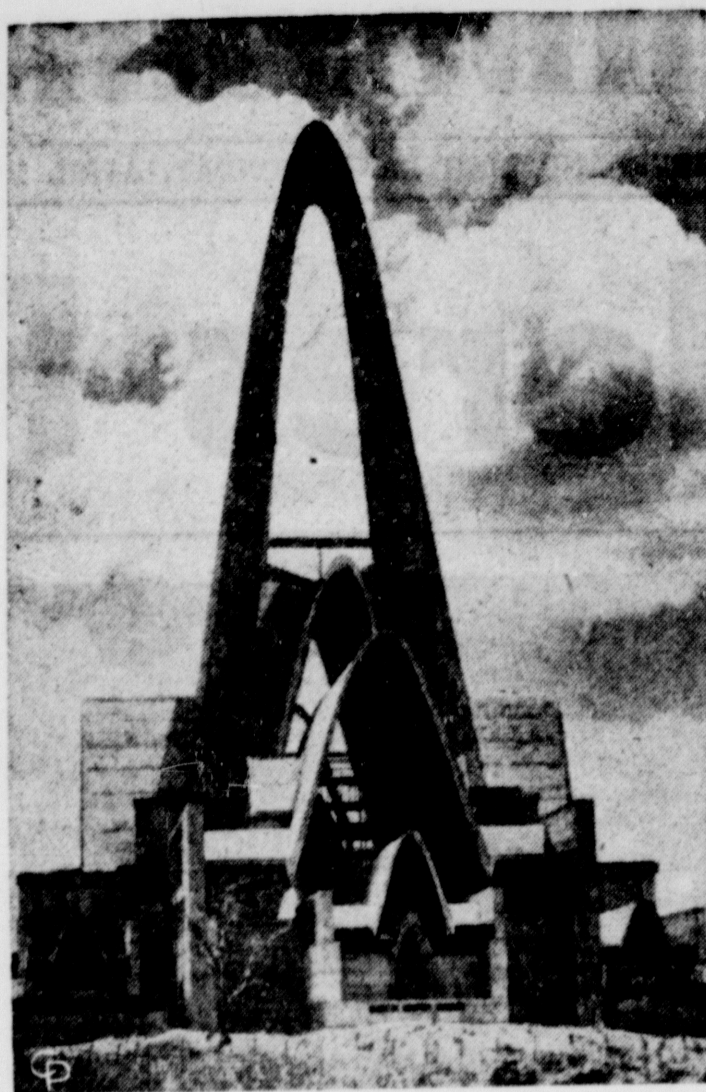

There was a time during the debate over the civil rights bill when it looked as if Johnson might lose a sizable chunk of the South's 352 Democratic presidential nominating ballots.

The logic of Southern politicians is not always accountable. They have demonstrated in the past that they sometimes would rather vote for an all-out enemy of what they call their way of life than with them but wasn't.

In the early and middle stages of the Senate's two-month consideration of the civil rights bill, Johnson caught what-for from the Southerners for his role in bringing the measure up. He was excoriated as one who had turned against the South.

But the Dixie criticism began to subside when it became clear Johnson was going to engineer passage of what he called a moderate, reasonable, voting rights bill.

Now the 18 Southern senators who voted against final passage are circulating among themselves a roll-call analysis showing that, from their viewpoint and on things they thought really mattered Johnson voted with them more than 80 per cent of the time on the 1957 and 1960 civil rights bills.

Negro Students Map Campaign

By United Press International

Negro student leaders from throughout the South voted in Raleigh, N.C., Sunday to set up a temporary organization to guide their anti-segregation activities.

The organization would be an independent movement called the Student Non-Violence Coordination Committee. However, it apparently would be closely tied to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, headed by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. which sponsored the three-day student meeting in Raleigh.

Elsewhere in the South Sunday, 10 white and two foreign exchange students from the University of Minnesota met with Negro sit-down leaders in Nashville, Tenn., to express their sympathy with lunch counter protests.

Indians Protest Visit By Chou

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—About 5,000 Indians paraded through downtown New Delhi Sunday protesting against next week's visit by Premier Chou En-Lai of Red China.

The procession was part of a nationwide demonstration organized by Jana Sangh, a right-wing Hindu party. It had two avowed purposes.

One was to protest the fact Prime Minister Nehru invited Chou to New Delhi to discuss the Indian-Chinese border dispute without prior withdrawal of Communist Chinese troops from 12,000 square miles of territory claimed by India.

The other was to warn Nehru against conceding any territory during Chou's six-day visit beginning Tuesday.

The procession wound up before the home of Nehru, who had returned barely two hours earlier from a last-minute inspection trip of Indian defense installations in the disputed northeast area.

Marlene To Pass Up Margaret's Wedding

LONDON (AP)—Marlene Dietrich is joining the lengthening list of notables who will not be going to Princess Margaret's wedding, the Sunday Pictorial said Sunday.

The glamorous grandmother actress was reported to have received an official invitation to the May 6 nuptials, but like some of Europe's royalty, is said to have another engagement.

Miss Dietrich, reached in Paris by the Sunday Pictorial, was quoted as saying: "The invitation—a formal one from the lord chamberlain—was sent to my New York address and reached me in Paris only two days ago. Naturally I would have been delighted to accept the invitation but it is impossible to break my contract. 'So I will have to decline—with great and genuine regret. I'll send them a wedding present though.'"

Ike Action Seen In Rail Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government officials are expected to ask President Eisenhower this week to step in with emergency action to head off possible labor troubles on the nation's railroads.

Eleven unions representing 650,000 nonoperating employees—those who maintain and service the trains—have a legal right to strike on May 5 for unsettled wage and other demands. The carriers also could put into effect their counterproposal for a 15-cent-per-hour wage cut.

Neither is likely to happen. The National Mediation Board is preparing to ask Eisenhower to name an emergency board to sift the proposals of both sides and come up with a recommended solution.

Under terms of the Railway Labor Act presidential action in naming an emergency board serves to delay any overt moves by either side for 30 days while the emergency board holds hearings and makes its recommendations, and

Soviet Newspaper Denounces Clergy Of Orthodox Church

Easter Observed Behind Iron Curtain

MOSCOW (AP) — Trud, the trade union newspaper, charged on this Easter Sunday that priests and monks of the Russian Orthodox Church "still poison the clear Soviet air."

The newspaper accused the Orthodox clergy of getting rich by selling holy water and holy unguents which were in reality nothing but tap water and ordinary vaseline.

After listing such charges Trud demanded: "Is it not high time to put an end to it?"

Trud's attack on the Orthodox clergy came as the faithful and curious flocked to colorful Easter services at Moscow's two dozen Orthodox churches.

The churches were jammed all day as worshippers brought in paschal—"easter"—loaves and colored eggs to be blessed by the priests.

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński spoke Sunday of martyrdom in connection with the difficulties of the Roman Catholic Church in Communist Poland. But he urged an Easter congregation to face the future without fear.

After celebrating a high Easter mass, the cardinal briefly addressed the crowd in Warsaw's Cathedral of St. John.

Referring to the Church's troubles, he said: "The way of the Church in Poland is difficult. It has here its Calvary. But be not frightened. The Church always wins through martyrdom. Be joyful and full of peace of heart."

The Cardinal's statement impressed listeners as an unusually open reference to the Church's troubles in Poland. He has referred to them before, but generally in less direct terms.

Well over a thousand people nearly filled the cathedral for the two-hour mass.

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — The Catholic faithful celebrated Easter Mass Sunday in churches throughout this Communist capital.

The main service was held in the massive domed basilica of St. Stephen.

Not far from the basilica, the primate of Hungary, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, celebrated his own Mass in the U. S. legation. The cardinal has been living in the legation, cut off from the church, since taking shelter there when Soviet tanks crushed his country's anti-Communist revolt in 1956.

Last night 10,000 Catholics, led by a cross-bearing priest, wound through the streets of Budapest in an Easter eve procession.

Chase Ends In Officer's Death

WASHINGTON (AP)—A motorcycle policeman was killed almost instantly here shortly before dawn Sunday when he crashed into the rear of an automobile he was chasing.

The officer, Pvt. Terrell M. Dodson, 29, was hurled from his machine and struck the curbing and a light post. He was thrown nearly 200 feet.

Pursuing the car also was another officer on his own motorcycle, Pvt. Charles E. Varney, who said Dodson hit the automobile when it braked suddenly going between a street car loading zone and the curbing.

Varney got the license number of the car, and a short while later police arrested the owner, William Mames Kurtz, 31, a Negro. Kurtz was charged with driving while drunk, colliding, leaving the scene of a collision, unreasonable speed, driving without a D. C. permit and homicide.

Westinghouse Gets Contract

BALTIMORE (AP)—A $2,600,000 Air Force contract has been awarded to the Westinghouse Electronics Division at Friendship Airport to produce radio equipment capable of transmitting on 60 voice channels at a time up to 120 miles.

The contract award was announced by R. E. Kirby, general manager of the division, and Air Force officials.

Kirby said the equipment, known as a tropospheric scatter communications system, can also transmit in tandem trunks up to about 1,000 miles. The signals are bounced off clouds, leap-frogging earthy obstructions which hamper normal line-of-sight transmission.

Mobile and light, the system was described by Westinghouse as highly reliable "for varied tactical situations and environments with which today's military forces must be prepared to cope."

Race Ban Lifted By Baltimore Store

BALTIMORE (AP) — A second major department store here began serving Negroes in its restaurants Saturday and a third is preparing to follow suit.

"We lifted restrictions," said Edward L. Leavey, vice president of Hutzler Brothers Co. "Negroes will be served in our restaurants."

An official of the Hecht-May Co. indicated he was unaware of the change in Hutzler policy.

"If that is so," he said, "we will also admit Negroes."

Baltimore stores operated by the two companies were among four picketed March 29 by Morgan State College students and other Negroes protesting their exclusion from the restaurants.

Hochschild Kohn & Co. began admitting Negroes to its dining rooms the same day.

An official of the fourth store involved in the picketing, Stewart & Co., refused to comment on the lifting of the color barrier at the other establishments.

Four years is a long time in any man's language, and I just received a letter from Sal Mineo, dated May 25, 1956. He thanked me for complimenting him on his performance in "Rebel Without a Cause" and writes: "I have known about Louella Parsons for years, but never dreamed of being in her column."

The letter was sent by his secretary who said he had forgotten to mail it, and she found it among some old papers. Well, riot of Tony Curtis' life as imposter Ferdinand Demara when then, and I doubt that he would Demara is masquerading as a be bothered today, to write me a Royal Mounted police.

After 48 hours practically without any sleep, Shirley MacLaine planned in from Tokyo with a bad cold. She is terribly worried about her husband, Steve Parker, who is still in a Tokyo hospital after a two months siege with hepatitis.

"I left our daughter Sachie in a nursery school in Tokyo," said Shirley. "She is learning to speak Japanese, and since I return to Japan as soon as I finish "All In a Night's Work," to stay six months while Steve and I make our movie "Geisha Girl," I thought it was better for Sachie to stay right there."

Shirley reported to Hal Wallis for "All In a Night's Work" which she, Dean Martin and Charles Huggins start Tuesday. Edith Head made Shirley some beautiful clothes which she spent Friday afternoon fitting.

Deborah, by the way, has put her big Pacific Palisades home on the market and doesn't intend to live there. Her recent tenants, Peter Shaw, Angela Lansbury and their children have moved into a house at Malibu. I have such pleasant memories of that house. It seems sad to have it sold and to realize that Deborah's two daughters will not be back there.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Gay little notes are a delight to everyone.

Be Charming On Paper

Is there anything so delightfully gratifying as receiving a short, sweet note from someone you've recently entertained?

There are some who look on note-writing as being old-fashioned. But to me, this charming art is, and always shall be, one of the most beautiful and heart-warming of the social graces. It has a charm far beyond the mere observance of etiquette.

Think of the gay little notes of appreciation you have received, and you'll remember what a delight they were, and realize in what high esteem you hold the persons who sent them.

There is, however, a definite art to writing this type of note. Keep it short, sweet, to the point and sincere. No need for over-flowery phrases and cliches. Keep it simple and in your own personal handwriting.

How do you know what to say? The best guide is to write as you speak. The note needn't be long, and it shouldn't be, but it should sound genuine, warm and very like you. Simple, undecorated note paper is best.

Perhaps because it isn't easy to settle a youngster down to writing, some young girls have little experience at it until they are faced with the task of acknowledging wedding gifts. But no one with her eye on a charmer's goal should wait until this situation occurs, nor must she allow herself to forget note-writing later.

Thank a hostess for entertaining you, for a weekend or for a dinner party, or for lesser graciousness toward you. Thank a giver for a gift. Write it, and do it promptly. Promptness is almost as important as writing at all. And write condolences simply and from the heart.

And, if the mood strikes you, drop a friend a note just to keep

Germany Suffering Acute Shortage Of Manpower

By KARL MACK

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — For money Germans can buy just about everything — except enough manpower.

For the 200,000 unemployed Germans there are 350,000 job vacancies. As a result, manufacturers are offering better paying offers to accept the giant purchase sums every day, causing 8,000,000 Germans to change their employment last year alone.

The chronic labor shortage exists despite the fact that 12,000,000 refugees have found homes and work in Germany since the war. And despite the fact 1,300,000 farm laborers have taken work in the cities since 1945.

Seven million new jobs have been created since the end of the war.

Industry's hunt for manpower has in places reached unbelievable proportions.

An ever-increasing number of plants have offered housewives work for only four or five hours a day, while others have offered to take care of the family washing or pay kindergarten fees for HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—An estimated 20,000 persons turned out in clear weather Sunday for the 40th annual Easter sunrise service in Hollywood Bowl.

Following the services traffic was backed up for miles and police issued a radio alert to stay away from the area.

Sunrise was greeted at the bowl by white-robed trumpeters, followed by singing by the Lutheran choir and the Children's Living Chorus.

'Payola Cop' Says Firms Still Try For TV Plugs

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — CBS-TV's newly-appointed payola policeman says business firms are still trying to buy plugs on shows.

"Sure, it's still going on," said Herb Carlberg, who was named director of the network's program practices after the payola scandals.

"The companies are just testing their wits against ours. They and their public relations firms go to great lengths to get a plug," Carlberg, a white-haired, 50-year-old man in his mid-fifties, has his own weapons with which he tries to clamp down against such efforts.

As director of network editing before the scandals, he had a staff of 20. Now he has 27 persons spotted around the nation to keep a watchful eye on shows.

"They follow these shows from the writing to the rehearsals to the taping," said the soft-spoken executive.

In addition, he said, "We are carefully doing away with circumstances that make payola possible. For instance, we no longer mention brand names when we give away gifts on programs."

"It used to be that you got the gift or product free for mentioning the name of the company that produced it. But now, we go out ourselves and buy the product — or we insist that the packager of the show buy it."

"Then, for instance, if we give away a refrigerator, we don't mention its maker. After all, we bought it."

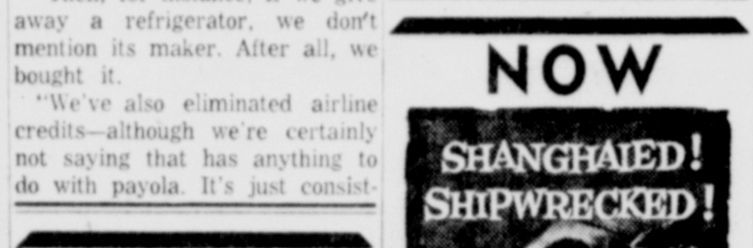

"We've also eliminated airline credits—although we're certainly not saying that has anything to do with payola. It's just consistent."

'Trade Offensive' Mostly Propaganda

Claims continue to pour from the Soviet Union that its trade offensive is out-stripping Western growth. The West recognizes the Kremlin's claims as an attempt to extract the last dollar's worth of propaganda value from each dollar of trade, but there are large areas of the world in which the claims are accepted at face value. Unless one catches the statistics so freely floating from Moscow onto a piece of paper, they can sound impressive.

Russia boasts, for example, that its export business has increased 125 per cent during the last 10 years, while that of the West has increased only 103 per cent. The inference is that the Soviet Union has achieved an annual rate of trade growth better than 20 per cent higher than the free world. Obviously, say Red statisticians, such a tremendous trade increase will shortly swamp Western competitors in world markets.

The Russians gleefully present their figures. This is what they show:

During the decade beginning in 1950, Russian exports increased from $2 billion to $4.5 billion (125 per cent); Western Europe international sales gained from $20 billion to $43 billion (115 per cent), and United States exports rose from $10 billion to $17.5 billion (75 per cent). The total for all concerned for the period was an increase from $32 billion to $65 billion, or 103 per cent.

The Russians have made a slightly faster gain than the free world, but have they really increased their share of world trade by 20 per cent? Not at all. The $2 billion Russian export value in 1950 was 6.3 per cent of the $32 billion total. Its $4.5 billion trade today is 6.9 per cent of the $65 billion total. Moscow has increased its share of world trade not 20 per cent, but one-half of one per cent.

Any increase in the Russian percentage should ring fire bells in free world markets, but a one-half of one per cent increase in a 10-year period is hardly a phenomenal return on an all-out trade offensive to capture any and all prospective customers, even if it meant — which it frequently did — selling Communist goods at a loss.

How To Run A Convention

The two political parties are not associations in the sense that members attend them and vote as individuals. They are bodies of delegations, chosen by various devices, each state determining the method of selection. Some delegations vote as a body (the unit rule); other delegations are bound, for a number of ballots, to be faithful to a particular candidate; other delegations are uncommitted.

Those who attend conventions as delegates are not the greatest men in a particular party — most of those sit on the platform or in boxes. The delegates are usually party hacks, locally chosen by political leaders either because of their services to the local party or organizations or because of their contributions to the party. It is very rare for a delegate to be independent of his party leaders. Whenever a leader wants to, he calls a caucus and there any independent ideas which may beset a delegate are driven out of his mind.

It has often been suggested, but the idea has never been permitted to go far, that voting for candidates in the convention be done by a secret ballot. We elect Presidents, Governors, members of Congress, almost everybody by a secret ballot but at conventions a delegation is voted in public or when each delegate is polled, as it is called, it is by a viva voce vote. That is, the delegate gets up and shouts his vote — nowadays over a microphone.

A secret ballot would change the nature of the convention. In the first place, the favorite son gimmick which is a waste of time would probably disappear. The favorite son gimmick has two functions: one, it advertises a Governor or a Senator to the nation and it might possibly give such a person a chance to run for Vice President, although that is not too likely; the other function of this device is that it gives the leadership of a particular delegation an opportunity to bargain for deals.

It will be recalled that in the 1952 Republican Convention when Senator Robert A. Taft and General Eisenhower were contesting for the nomination, the California delegation, pledged to Governor Earl Warren, was known to have decided to hold out to the bitter end for Warren.

At one period of the convention, before the actual voting started, it looked as though Warren held the balance of power and he was being importuned by both sides not to vote for the other. As an instance of captive delegations, reference can be made to Governor John Fine of Pennsylvania, now forgotten politically, who was presumed to control 30 votes which both sides were seeking. The Governor himself could not be found. He had made his bargain, whatever it was.

The secret ballot would obviate all this. The candidates would be lined up in voting machines and the delegates would vote and the highest man would win. The delegates could then go home and the Bosses would probably drop dead.

Another thing about conventions is the long argument about the platform. These are enormous documents, running to 10,000 or more words, covering every detail of the political, social and economic life of the nation. The platform is usually drawn up by a committee of one representative from each state. Few who serve on such committees know what they are doing. There are subcommittees and some of them hire experts.

The platforms are badly written and badly edited documents. I have recently gone over about a dozen of them, covering a long period in our history. On the whole, they are worthless documents, unrealistically drawn, incapable of being implemented, couched in uninspired language. Would it not be simpler if each party drew up a broad statement of principles, say a 1,000 or 1,500-word document, cogently prepared, sharply defined, inspirationally stated — a document which could be a guiding light to its followers?

Perhaps it is too much to ask the political parties to take their platforms seriously. If one wants to see how far a politician moves from his platform, it is only necessary to read the Democratic platform of 1932 on which Franklin D. Roosevelt ran. It preached economy; he entered upon a career of spending such as we had never before witnessed. In fact, not an item of that platform related to the New Deal.

Both parties ignore their platforms after Election Day; why bother about them before Election Day?

'Those Buzzards Are Discouraging'

'Stop Nixon' Drives Can Hurt GOP Chances

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Many people, among them some editorial writers, who haven't the slightest interest in the success of the Republican Party are nevertheless trying to tell that party it should turn down Vice President Nixon for the Presidential nomination this year.

The wish is father to the thought, and the attempt right now is to use the name of Governor Rockefeller — without his consent — to try to prevent the nomination of Richard Nixon. The New York governor has said explicitly that he does not intend to become a candidate for either the Presidency or the Vice Presidency. But the folks who don't like Nixon keep up the rhubarb as a means of discrediting the Vice President.

Thus, every now and then, a movement to "draft" Governor Rockefeller is squelched and then bobs up again. The other day one of these abortive attempts was wisely repudiated by Mr. Rockefeller himself. He saw it as an effort to involve him in a "stop Nixon" drive.

Why do these meddlers in Republican politics want to "stop Nixon"? They themselves wouldn't vote the Republican ticket anyway, as they are mostly "left-wingers" or so-called "liberals" or persons who still resent Mr. Nixon's part in catching Alger Hiss and other Communist stooges.

No candidate of the Republican Party this year—who, to win, has to rely on the support of a largely conservative strength — would throw such support away in a misguided effort to lure the imaginary strength of so-called "independents" or "liberals."

The Republican Party has enough potential votes on the conservative side to elect a President this year. If, however, the so-called "liberal" or "leftist" group succeeds in influencing the selection for the Republican nomination of someone who is going to enter the campaign suspected of being at heart a radical or a "spender," many conservatives will be tempted to stay at home and let a full-fledged Democrat have the responsibility of steering the government between liberal, radical and conservative practices.

One of the reasons the Republicans have had a hard time getting their voters to the polls in recent years is that some conservatives have been alienated by the Eisenhower Administration on particular issues. In the last two years, however, many of these conservatives have rallied behind the President because of his policies at home, which have helped to stabilize the economy of the country, and his policies abroad, which have helped to keep us out of a nuclear war.

As for Governor Rockefeller, he has played his cards well to date. He has an attractive personality and is rapidly getting worthwhile experience by his service in Albany. It will stand him in good stead in the future. He would immeasurably aid the national ticket if the convention drafted him for the Vice Presidential nomination, but only if the vast majority of the Republican voters were disabused of any idea that he is just another "left-wing liberal."

Governor Rockefeller is the kind of man who, if he someday becomes President, would make a fine Chief Executive. He is ROUGH ROUNDS — The sport of boxing, which got a big boost via television, appears to be in for some rough rounds in the months ahead.

A number of senators are becoming increasingly disturbed over mounting reports that the game is crooked, fixed and rigged to take advantage of the not-too-bright youngsters who annually start a career in the ring in the hopes of making some quick money and getting out.

Senators have made speeches on Capitol Hill calling for a thorough clean-up of the sport. Some have suggested amending the federal anti-trust laws to break up managers' and fight promoters' monopolies, through which they manipulate the game. Others have suggested that boxing appoint a "Czar" as was done by the movie industry and baseball years ago when unsavory practices threatened them with loss of public confidence.

Senator Estes Kefauver (D), Tennessee, has scheduled hearings into the boxing mess for later this year. The purpose of his committee is to determine whether present laws are adequate to control the situation or whether new ones are needed.

Kefauver says, "Professional boxing should either be straightened out or abolished if it is controlled by a racket-dominated monopoly." More and more people are beginning to think that it is.

Fluoridation Of Water Is Safe And Effective

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Controlled fluoridation has proved an inexpensive and safe way to prevent dental caries. It reduces dental decay 65 per cent and protection lasts a lifetime, if started in childhood. What a pity so many youngsters are denied these benefits because of a militant vocal minority who are opposed to fluoridation on general principles.

The process is done by adding a safe amount of fluoride to the public water supply. Eight times as much fluoride as is being used at present in tooth decay prevention programs can be employed safely and will not injure health. Much larger doses will discolor the teeth but health still is not affected nor life shortened.

Too much of anything is harmful, including table salt, pepper, and sugar. The same can be said of fluoride but it is ridiculous to label poisonous the small but precise quantities used to prevent tooth decay.

Time has disproved the alleged harmful reactions to fluoridation. In my home town, the water supply has been treated for 15 years without adverse effects. The addition of fluoride is similar to chlorination and other sanitary procedures employed by water engineers.

Fluoridation of public water supplies has been recommended by Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare; the American Dental Association, the American Medical Association, and almost all other scientific and professional organizations.

The Food and Drug Administration of the Public Health Service has been waging a tremendous battle against adulteration of food and drink. The cranberry incident is an example. This agency would be the first to condemn the use of fluoridation if there was the slightest indication that it is a harmful procedure.

Canadians Will Be Watching N.J. Republican Primary Tomorrow

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — U. S. politicians may be watching the West Virginia primary, but Canada will be watching the New Jersey primary which will be decided tomorrow. Reason: the suicide of Canadian Ambassador Herbert Norman after the Senate Internal Security Committee leaked secret testimony regarding him.

After his suicide, a letter mailed from Canada was received by the post office in Washington addressed: "Killer Morris, U. S. Senate." Postal officials promptly delivered it to Robert Morris, counsel for the Internal Security Committee. This is the man who after many years of working with McCarthy of Wisconsin and Jenner of Indiana now wants to be elected to the Senate.

The Republican primary in New Jersey in which Morris is running is one of the most significant in the nation. It highlights a split inside the Republican party between conservatives and moderates which hasn't been accentuated since the day when the GOP was split wide open over the Army-McCarthy hearings and the censure of Joe McCarthy.

Cast Of Characters
Here is the cast of characters in this significant battle. The lead roles are being played by: Sen. Clifford Case, Republican moderate and anti-McCarthyite, for whom Ike made a special trip to New Jersey in 1954 to help elect. Case served many years in the House of Representatives, resigned to head the Fund for The Republic for two years, then returned to Congress as a Senator.

Robert Morris, Republican right-winger, first got into the spotlight as Republican counsel for the Senate committee probing McCarthy's charge that there were "205-card carrying Communists in the State Department." He tried to prove McCarthy right. After Eisenhower's election and the Republicans controlled the Senate, Morris became chief counsel for the Senate Internal Security Committee, operating under Jenner and his close friend, Eastland of Mississippi.

The supporting cast in this race is also interesting. On Morris' side it includes Jim Selverge, right-wing public relations man for Republic Steel, the Pan American Coffee Bureau, and the Bolivian government. Selverge has maneuvered for some time to defeat Case, once tried to persuade ex-Congressman Fred Hartley, co-author of the Taft-Hartley Act, to run against him.

Backing up Morris this time are such reconstructed right-wingers as Adm. Ben Moreell, head of Jones-Laughlin Steel; Gen. Bonners Fellers, MacArthur's former chief of intelligence; Ralph Gwinn of New York, who spent 'hundreds of the taxpayers' dollars mailing out Mervin K. Hart-type literature when Gwinn was in Congress; Howard Buffett, the Omaha banker; ex-Congressman Ed Gossett of Southwestern Bell Telephone; and other members of Americans for Constitutional Action.

According to Charles Taft, the Selverge group "wants to go back to the time before Louis XIV."

Members of Americans for Constitutional Action, Admiral Moreell, president, plus other Morris friends, are reported to have poured about $200,000 into New Jersey. The ACA even operates its own campaign office in the Stacey Trent Hotel in Trenton, private phone Owens 5-7438, with Charles A. McManus in charge. McManus is an importee from Pennsylvania, handles industrial relations for U. S. Steel.

Lonely Case
Supporting Case is his old friend, ex-Sen. Alexander Smith, the former Princeton professor, now 80 years old, who resigned his State Department job to go back to New Jersey and campaign for his young colleague. Also loyally backing Case is Dallas Townsend, the Assistant Attorney General in charge of Alien Property.

But that's as far as the Eisenhower administration has gone. Case's old friend, Secretary of Labor Mitchell, has discreetly kept on the sidelines. In the race between McCarthy's old pal and McCarthy's old enemy, Mitchell for reasons best known to himself is staying neutral.

However, Victor Johnson, head of the Republican Senate Campaign Committee, is not. He is plumping for Morris and makes almost no secret of it. His private argument is that the Republican party must go conservative, that liberal Republicans in the Senate like Case are not much better than Democrats.

On the sidelines but carefully watching the New Jersey battle are Vice President Nixon and Governor Rockefeller. Nixon's personal representative who's been in New Jersey has made it clear that a Case defeat would weaken the Republican ticket in November. Rockefeller is reported to feel much the same way.

As of today, however, the big money and the visible breaks are with Morris. Morris has a battery of telephone operators making about 50,000 calls a day. His billboards, his match covers, radio and TV spots are seen and heard everywhere. He even has five headquarters.

In contrast, Senator Case has one headquarters, a single basement room at 50 Commerce Street in Newark next to the men's rest room. If he wins it will be because the voters of New Jersey are not fooled by a lot of money.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

There were eight puppies. Seven have gone out in the world to make their living mooching meals and love in return for a wag of the tail and a limpid look in the eyes. We were so busy giving the German shepherds away that, flushed with success, we gave the mother away too.

This was done to preserve the sanity of the father. Rocky, as a big black male, is a shy type around women. Sandy had him hiding in corners. She was beautiful, slender and fawn-colored, a lady with dainty feet and a cast iron stomach. She ate everything we put in front of her and everything we put in front of her husband.

When she had the babies, the big dope used to try to lurch up toward the enclosure to see his offspring. This irritated Sandy, who was aware that the six males and two females looked exactly like their old man, even to the little black wart on the left side of the jaws. She would growl, and Rocky would take off, ears flattened, lifting his feet high in slow motion.

There was never a question of who was boss. Sandy was a good mother and, when some stomachs were full, she would push those babies away with her nose, and bring others toward the cafeteria.

Now Sandy has a nice home with Joe Scotti and she is glad to be away from that big handsome lout of a husband, who could never think of anything more exciting than dozing and licking his paws. She is glad to be away from the babies too, because, when weaning time came, she was ready to cut them loose, but they wanted mother.

The pups are in different towns. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Healy of Jackson Heights have one. Mrs. Healy is Helen Kane, the boop-a-deep girl, and her husband, who is the Night Mayor of Broadway, named the dog Mr. Boop. "He is fat and sassy, more like a honey bear than a police dog. Mr. Boop's favorite spot is behind the lavatory in the bathroom. There is nothing wrong with this, especially if you are accustomed to having your ankles nipped by pointed milk teeth.

Mrs. Virginia Schaller has one of the two females. Its name is Dawn von Morgen. The puppy is black and has a silver bow tie on her chest. "When she hears my voice," says Mrs. Schaller, "she runs at once to her food dish—" such devotion!" Roy Lane, who works in the post office at Red Bank, has the other female. He named her Rosie, but so many people laughed that he changed it to Duchess.

A 9-year-old boy named Dwight Junger wrote a letter asking for a dog. I didn't know him. His father wrote on the back: "You don't have to pay any attention to my son's letter. I didn't want to stop him from writing, but I know that the dogs are valuable," etc. He now has a male.

"Both King and I slept all the way home from your house," Dwight writes in large script. "My mother, who is up first, feeds him breakfast. I feed him lunch and my dad gives him his supper. My dad says he eats like an elephant. Thanks for my first dog. I will always remember you."

Miss Pamela Sullivan has one. His name is Gregory. "How do we like him? Adore is more the word. He hides slippers, his cereal bowl and rubber ball, and anything else he thinks we'll miss."

In Virginia, Deke DeLoach Jr., has one. Deke is ill with rheumatic fever and he needed a playmate to help kill the long idle hours. He named his pup Bishop. There are five other children to keep Bishop on his toes, including his personal favorite, Sharon, who is a year old.

Deke's father, who is a friend of mine, says that, out of six kitchen puddles a night, Bishop hits the newspaper three times. "He likes sox, towels, attention and romping. He dislikes the postman, a leash and big dogs."

Diane Hunter has a male. Her dad took him to their home in Florida. His name is Bacardi and his bark sounds like the squeak of a bicycle horn.

The last one is here. His name is Riley. He is fat and frisky and thinks he can beat his father in a stand-up fight. Rocky lies flat and pretends to be beaten, and the little one climbs up on him and bites his ear, hangs onto the big tail when Rocky is trying to look dignified, and sulks in a corner when he is spanked.

Once, I saw Rocky take the baby's entire head in his mouth, and I gulped and held my breath. The baby looked out, and yawned, the little pink tongue curling upward. It's a wise pup that knows his own father . . .

Pittsburgh Pirates Sweep Doubleheader From Redlegs

Bucs Get Six In Ninth, Win Nightcap, 6-5

Smith, Skinner Hit Homers; Bob Friend Snare Opener, 5-0

By RUDY CERNKOVIC
United Press International
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Hal Smith hit a three-run pinch homer and Bob Skinner drilled a two-run homer to highlight a six-run rally in the ninth-inning of the nightcap Sunday to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 6-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds and a sweep of the doubleheader. Bob Friend pitched a four-hit 5-0 shutout in the opener.

The Pirates were behind 5-0 and had only five hits when they went to bat for the last time and enacted one of the patented come-from-behind rallies that stamped their efforts last year.

The Reds sent Bill Henry to the mound after starter Don Newcombe and Raoul Sanchez had fashioned a shutout for eight innings.

Burgess Starts Rally

Then the fireworks began after Roberto Clemente grounded out. Smokey Burgess singled and Joe Christopher ran for him. Bill Virdon registered his third single to move Christopher to third.

Bill Mazeroski singled to score the first Pirate run. Hal Smith, hitting for winning pitcher Joe Gibson, lined a tremendous homer over the left-center field wall to bring the Pirates within one run of the Reds.

Ted Wiend relieved Henry and got Don Hoak to ground out, but Dick Groat, one of the Pirate "money-hitters" singled to center with the ball taking a bounce and eluding the outstretched hands of shortstop Roy McMillan.

Then Skinner shot his climactic homer into the upper deck of the rightfield stands to send an Easter holiday crowd into a frenzy.

The Reds bombed five pitchers for 14 hits and looked as though they had the game salted away until the never-say-die Pirates went into their act.

Newcombe allowed only three hits before he was lifted in the fifth inning after being struck on the right wrist by Virdon's ground single. He was taken to a nearby hospital for X-rays, but said he had full use of his hand.

The Reds scored one run in the fifth and added a pair of tallies in each of the third and fifth innings.

Gibson registered a victory in his first major league appearance while Wiend was charged with the defeat.

The Pirates racked up 11 hits to anchor their third victory of the four-game series with the Reds.

Friend allowed only three singles going into the ninth inning of the opener, when Lee Walls touched him for a triple which proved to be harmless.

Friend Fans Six

Friend, who struck out six, got help from Clemente's two-run homer in the first inning and the fleet outfielder combined with Dick Stuart on successive triples to produce another run in the eighth. The Pirates got their two other runs in the third inning on a double, single, infield out and Stuart's sacrifice fly.

JUNIOR LOOP READY—It's opening game time for the American League, a week after the Senior circuit started, and it's a toss-up in pre-season pickings as to the winner—the Yanks, White Sox or Indians, with the Tigers rated the dark horse. The new season will accent the "big boys," Ted Williams and Mickey Mantle, the former about ready to retire with a .346 career average and Mantle expected to improve over his 1959 record. Williams needs 20 homers to move into second place in all-time homer hitting, a spot Mel Ott holds with

Jerry West's Team Beaten

West Liberty Stars Win Tourney, 99-89

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va. (UPI)—A group of former West Liberty College stars downed a team of ex-West Virginia University players 99-89 Saturday night in the finals of the Tri-State basketball tournament despite a 40-point performance by the losers' Jerry West.

The West Liberty players gained the finals by downing a group of ex-Marshall College players 115 in overtime. The WVU team, with West scoring 39 points, downed Lenarts of Pittsburgh 100-81 in the other semifinal game Saturday afternoon.

The ex-Marshall College squad contended it did not get a fair deal in the semifinals and did not show up for the consolation game.

Dalton Heard led the West Liberty team with 31 points, while little Joe Blaha had 20. Jim Warren and Bucky Boldard scored 18 and 16 points for the WVU team.

West, honorary mayor of Sistersville Saturday, was named the tournament's most valuable player. He scored 145 points in four games. West also was selected on the all-tournament team.

Other members of the mythical squad are Boldard, Heard, Blaha and Mickey Byrdystricker of the Marshall team.

Bosox, Senators Monopolize Baseball Spotlight Today

"Ike" To Toss First Ball; Sturdivant, Pascual To Pitch

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators may play in the shadows later but they monopolize the baseball spotlight here Monday in the 50th anniversary Presidential opener.

President Eisenhower expects to fly up from his own spring training camp at Augusta, Ga., for his last opening game pitch at Griffith Stadium.

Eisenhower's loss from the chief executive's first base box will inaugurate the American League season — the National League started play last week. After he performs, two other right-handers — Tom Sturdivant (2-8) of Boston and Camilo Pascual (17-10) of Washington — will take over the pitching.

Others Open Tuesday

With both viewed skeptically in the preseason predictions, the Red Sox and Senators may also be launching a battle for last place. But they'll have the scene all to themselves. National League teams have the day off. The other AL clubs wait until Tuesday to start.

Washington came within a sore finger of losing Billy Gardner back to the Baltimore Orioles after acquiring him just two weeks ago to strengthen a wobbly infield defense. The Senators traded off catcher Clint Courtney, who is still sidelined by an infected finger, and the deal hinged on Courtney's being able to open the season for Baltimore. The Orioles agreed Sunday to extend the deadline to May 10, so Gardner will be at second base and lead off for the Senators Monday.

Homier's Harmon Killebrew at third and Bob Allison, 1959 AL rookie of the year, in right are the only Senators reappearing from last year's opening lineup.

Catcher Earl Battey and first baseman Don Mincher, obtained from Chicago with $150,000 for Roy Sievers, are two of the strangers.

Clinton May Start

Outfielder Lou Clinton may also make a debut unless Boston Manager Billy Jurges subordinates him to Gary Geiger, Bobby Thomson, the recently converted National League veteran, also is another possible outfield starter for the Red Sox. And Haywood Sullivan is getting another crack at a regular catching job. On the other hand Boston again will present Ted Williams, the once peerless hitter who at 41 is older for baseball than Eisenhower at 69 is for the presidency.

Coates Will Face Boston

Slated To Twirl Opener For Yanks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Manager Casey Stengel announced Sunday that right-hander Jim Coates will be the opening game pitcher for the Yankees against the Red Sox in Boston on Tuesday.

Coates was 6-1 for the Yankees last season and will be pitching in his first major league opener.

Stengel also said Hector Lopez will be his starting left fielder and Roger Maris will start in right field, thus apparently ending an experiment which would have switched Maris to left field from right field, where he has played during most of his career.

Mathews Leads Easter Parade As Braves Win

Bob Buhl Scores Over Phillies, 8-4

By RUSS GREEN
United Press International

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Eddie Mathews led a Milwaukee Easter parade on Robin Roberts with a homer, triple and double Sunday while the Braves made it two in a row over the Philadelphia Phillies with an 8-4 victory.

The third baseman tripled into the left field corner and scored in the fourth, blasted a long smash which became a ground rule double when it zoomed on the fly through the viewing window of the score keeper half way up the centerfield scoreboard in the sixth, and then homered over the 64-foot high board 400 feet from home plate in the seventh to put the finisher on Roberts.

It was Mathews' first homer of the season and the 300th of his career.

Mathews' slugging, and a three-run double by Ray Boone, on first base for the Braves because Joe Adcock has an ailing back and Frank Torre is on the sick list, made Bob Buhl the winner in his first start despite three Philly home runs.

Harry Anderson, a scapegoat in the Phils' stormy training season, hit two—one over the rightfield wall and one into the left field stands—and Bobby Del Greco hit the other for his second of the season. Between homers, Buhl pitched a six-hitter and fanned eight.

Aside from the home runs by Anderson and Del Greco, Buhl had only one shaky inning, and eighth when three Phil singles scored the other run.

Fire Destroys Memphis Chicks Baseball Park

Blaze Threatens Nearby Hospital

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Fire Sunday night destroyed Russwood Park, home of the Southern Assn. Memphis Chicks, shortly after the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox played an exhibition game there.

Flames leaped high into the sky and for a while threatened Baptist Hospital across the street from the baseball park.

Smoke swept into the 12-story hospital building and doctors and nurses rushed all available help to start moving patients from an area where flames cracked windows in the building.

"There is a lot of smoke and the windows are breaking and the patients are becoming panicky," a nurse told United Press International.

Patients first were moved from the top floor then downward into an annex section, away from the fire.

The flames quickly enveloped a series of one and two-story buildings fronting the ballpark, and apparently heavily damaged radio station WHIM which is located on the second floor of the Russwood building.

It was too early to say if there were any workmen in Russwood park when the fire started. The exhibition game ended by 5 p.m. e.s.t. and the stands had been emptied for about three hours when flames were seen shooting up from the stands. More than an hour later firemen still were trying to control the blaze.

Kuenn Swapped For Colavito In Year's Biggest Trade

Rocky To Bat In Fifth Spot Behind Kaline

Harvey Has Been With Tigers Since 1952 And Hit .314

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—In the year's biggest baseball trade, American League batting king Harvey Kuenn of the Detroit Tigers was sent to the Cleveland Indians Sunday in exchange for power-hitting Rocky Colavito.

The surprise straight player swap came only one day before the junior circuit is scheduled to kick off its 1960 campaign and two days before the Tigers and Indians themselves get into action.

The 29-year-old Kuenn, who won league hitting honors last season with a .333 average, will don his Indian uniform in Cleveland Monday on the eve of the season's opener between the two clubs.

Hit 42 Home Runs
Colavito, whose 42 home runs and 111 RBIs made him the toast of Indian fans last season, is expected to add potent punch to Detroit's lineup which has long lacked a top home run clouter.

Two of the fancier paid players in the big league figured in the trade.

Kuenn draws a reported $47,500, or so. He got a boost after being a holdout this spring. Colavito gets approximately $35,000, a raise from $28,000 last season. They'll be paid these same salaries by their new clubs.

Tiger Vice President Rick Ferrell made the bombshell announcement at Henley Field here as Detroit was playing Kansas City in its final spring training game.

The deal was put on ice in a telephone conversation between Tiger President Bill DeWitt, from his home in St. Louis, and Frank Lane, general manager of the Tribe.

"I have a high regard for Kuenn's ability as a player," DeWitt said. "But we felt we needed more power at the plate and we're hopeful this move will enable us to score more runs."

Kuenn, who got the news while puffing on a cigar in front of his locker, said "I'm going to miss Detroit but this is just part of the game."

With Tigers Since '52
Kuenn had been with the Tigers since 1952 and has a lifetime batting average of .314. Only once in his career, in 1957, did he fail to hit over .300. His spring training mark this year is a gaudy .418.

Dykes said he plans to use Colavito in the fifth spot in the batting order behind Al Kaline, who will bat cleanup. Kaline was runnerup to Kuenn for the batting four-hit hurling of three pitchers, will be moved up from fifth to third in the lineup.

Meanwhile, in Memphis, Tenn., Colavito said he wasn't surprised at being traded. He seemed disappointed, however, when Manager Joe Gordon broke the news to him. Shortly after he rifled a home run to give the Indians a 1-0 lead over the White Sox he learned he was going to Detroit for Kuenn.

Hated To Leave Score
"The toughest part is leaving my teammates," he said. "The fellow I hate to leave the most is Herb Score, my roommate. He's going to win 20 games this year. I wish he were going to Detroit with me."

Manager Joe Gordon said the trade was made "with his full knowledge and consent." He said he did not know where he would play Kuenn. "Just say we think we got a very fine ball player for Colavito," he said.

Lane told a reporter in Cleveland he "hated to give up a fine young ballplayer like Rocky but I feel we have a better chance to win the pennant with Kuenn."

"The deal should help both clubs. Kuenn gives us greater speed, better defense and more consistent hitting."

"The Tigers needed someone who can hit the long ball so they gave up consistency for power. We think we'll have enough power on our club without Rocky."

Frisch Says Gout Attack Not Serious

NEW YORK (UPI)—Frank Frisch, 61-year-old member of baseball's Hall of Fame, required treatment at Yankee Stadium Sunday when he complained of severe pain in his legs.

Frisch was taken to his home in New Rochelle where he described his condition as "an attack of gout, but nothing really serious."

The former New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals' second baseman, who suffered a heart attack in 1956, was treated at the stadium by Yankee physician Dr. Sidney Gaynor. Frisch was at the ball park watching a Red Sox-Yankees exhibition game as a standby announcer for the Columbia Broadcasting System's game of the week.

Bill Cunningham, Prominent Boston Sports Writer, Dies

Covered Major Sports Events Over 40 Years

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Elijah W. (Bill) Cunningham, sports writer and columnist for the Boston Herald, died Sunday at his home after a long illness. He was 64.

A native of Pattonville, Tex., he was of English, Scotch and Irish descent. Both his grandfathers were Presbyterian clergymen. His father and mother were Texas schoolteachers.

In 1915 a few Dartmouth College alumni in Texas established a scholarship and set up a contest for it. Bill tried for it and won. He entered Dartmouth that fall.

A star center in football, he wrote for the campus publications and played the piano in the local movie house at Hanover, N.H.

He served in World War I and his first newspaper writing appeared in the Boston Globe, April 20, 1919. It was an eyewitness description of the war-ravaged city of Rheims—written to a friend on the Globe staff.

In 40 years as a reporter he covered almost every heavyweight boxing championship, all world series and major football games. He was a talented after-dinner speaker until he was forced to undergo a throat operation for cancer. He also had been a radio commentator.

In addition to his widow, Cunningham left two daughters, Mrs. Sumner R. Andrews of Winchester and Mrs. George S. Bissell of Newton.

Yankees Lose, 2-0, For Worst Spring Mark In 40 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—The Boston Red Sox completed a two-game sweep of their exhibition series with New York at Yankee Stadium Sunday with a 2-0 victory on the title last year. Charlie Maxwell will be moved up from fifth to third in the lineup.

It left them with a record of 11 victories and 21 setbacks against major league opposition. Left-hander Ted Bowfield and right-hander Frank Sullivan and to him. Shortly after he rifled a home run to give the Indians a 1-0 lead over the White Sox he learned he was going to Detroit for Kuenn.

Brain Injury Is Fatal To Charles Mohr

Wisconsin Boxer Lost On TKO Apr. 9

By DAVE O'HARA

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A 22-year-old youth, rated one of the most skillful boxers in University of Wisconsin history, died Sunday from a brain injury suffered in a national collegiate title fight April 9.

Charles Mohr, a senior from Merrick, N. Y., died at the university hospital without regaining consciousness from the time of admittance less than an hour after his fatal bout eight days ago.

Despite his youth and athletic-developed strength, Mohr waged a losing battle almost from the moment of his collapse in a dressing room 10 minutes after he left the fight ring.

Taken by ambulance from the Wisconsin fieldhouse to the nearby campus hospital, he underwent emergency surgery for a massive brain hemorrhage. The injury was so extensive that a team of Neurosurgeons had to pack the area to halt bleeding in an operation which required more than three hours.

Suffered Technical KO
Mohr, the 1959 National Collegiate Athletic Assn. 165-pound champion, was injured in losing his title on a second-round technical knockout by Stu Bartell of San Jose State.

A clever southpaw noted for his ability to escape punishing blows, Mohr was knocked down for the first time in his collegiate career when Bartell landed a tremendous right-hand punch midway through the second round.

Mohr quickly regained his feet and took a mandatory nine-second count standing, but ran into other hard punches before the referee could stop the bout. The Wisconsin hatter walked from the ring under his own power then collapsed.

Mohr's sisters, Carol and Joan, witnessed the fight and followed their brother to the hospital. They were joined the next day in keeping a bedside vigil by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mohr Sr., who flew from New York.

A statement by Lloyd L. Hughes, hospital superintendent, listed immediate cause of death as failure of vital centers in the brain to respond.

Rated Top Fighter
Mohr, who enrolled at Wisconsin because of his love for boxing, was rated one of the school's top fighters since the Badgers began intercollegiate competition in the sport in 1933. He was undefeated in 10 bouts as a junior and had lost only two of nine fights this year before meeting Bartell.

Gene Fullmer To Defend NBA Crown Friday

Fights Giardello At Bozeman, Mont.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gene Fullmer places the NBA version of the world middleweight title on the line against Joey Giardello of Philadelphia Wednesday night in the feature bout on this week's boxing schedule.

The scheduled 15-rounder from the Montana State College field house in Bozeman, Mont., will be carried over ABC-TV at 10 p. m. e.s.t., as a regular "Wednesday night fight."

Fullmer, 28, is unbeaten since he lost the middleweight title to Ray Robinson on May 1, 1957, and has a pro record of 51 victories, including 22 knockouts, in 53 bouts. He regained the title when he stopped Carmen Basilio in 14 rounds on Aug. 28, 1959.

Giardello, 29, is getting his first title shot in a career of 106 fights during which he has been up and down the ladder. Since 1956, he has scored 21 victories and fought a draw in 25 bouts. He will have a slight physical advantage (in reach and most other measurements) although each is expected to weigh in at the 160-pound limit.

Len Matthews, 20-year-old Philadelphia lightweight contender who is rated No. 4 among the world challengers, faces Douglas Vaillant, 22-year-old Cuban lightweight champion, in the Friday night 10-rounder at Miami Beach, Fla.

Jose Gonzalez of Puerto Rico meets Billy Flamingo of New York City in Monday night's 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

"Stop Kennedy" Drive Refuted By Humphrey

Senator Seeks Positive Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic presidential hopeful Hubert Humphrey Sunday took sharp issue with a reported "Stop-Kennedy" coalition in the West Virginia May 10 primary.

"Our campaign has as its purpose the strengthening of the Democratic Party," he said. "It is not designed to stop anybody, except a continuation of do-nothing Republican control."

Humphrey is opposing Sen. John Kennedy in West Virginia's "popularity poll" primary.

Kennedy's opponents think if the Massachusetts senator, a Roman Catholic, wins in West Virginia, which is only 5 per cent Catholic, he will practically assure himself of the nomination. Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W. Va.) reportedly has advised those with presidential favorites other than Kennedy to vote for Humphrey in the primary.

So Humphrey will apparently benefit from the so-called "Stop Kennedy" drive, and the anti-Catholic sentiment.

However, Humphrey says he wants no part of it.

"I'm in this campaign for the principles and ideals in which I deeply believe and for the candidacy of Hubert Humphrey for president, not as a 'front man' for anyone else."

"It is apparent that Senator Robert Byrd is actively supporting the candidacy of Senator Lyndon Johnson," Humphrey said. "He has been quoted as saying he is for Johnson for president and Humphrey for vice president."

"Senator Byrd has a right to express his views — but they are not mine. I want to make it clear that I am running for President, not for vice president."

"For once and for all, I am appealing for support in my own behalf, and not, I repeat, for anyone else — or merely to block anyone else."

As to Kennedy's religion, Humphrey said "I have repeatedly said I didn't think any man should be voted against just because of his religion affiliation or voted for just because of his choice of a church."

"My life and public career has been dedicated to opposing bigotry in any form, and I shall continue to do so — whatever effect it has on my chances to become president."

Humphrey added he thought the people of West Virginia would choose between the candidates on the basis of their individual records and on the basis of what they stand for.

Humphrey said he hopes the West Virginia primary will be decided on other issues than religion.

"My opponent and senate colleague is a good Democrat who, I am sure shares my hopes this campaign can help, not hurt, the Democratic party in West Virginia," he said.

Kennedy Opens West Virginia Vote Campaign

Three-Day Stump Gets Under Way

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — Senator John F. Kennedy arrived here late Sunday night to begin three days of intensive campaigning throughout West Virginia.

Kennedy is opposing Senator Hubert Humphrey in the May 10 preference presidential primary.

Humphrey will not return to the Mountain State until April 25. Humphrey said he had to stay in Washington because of "pressing" legislation.

However, his wife Muriel will start a three day tour Monday on behalf of her husband's candidacy. She will visit Charleston, Clendenin, Gassaway, Sutton, Buckhannon and Clarksburg.

Kennedy's wife, Jacqueline, will campaign with her husband during his three-day stumping of the state this week.

Kennedy returns to the Mountain State amid growing reports of a "Stop-Kennedy" coalition.

He previously had appealed to the voters of West Virginia to recognize the fact that only he and Humphrey were entered in the Mountain State primary.

Sen. Robert Byrd (D-W. Va.) reportedly advised all voters that have other presidential preferences to vote for Humphrey.

Kennedy's religion will also apparently play a big part in the final outcome in West Virginia which is 95 per cent Protestant.

Both Kennedy and Humphrey have stated they want the primary to be decided on what the candidates have done, not on religion preferences.

Kennedy Monday will have a coffee-and-doughnut session at a Clarksburg hotel then will leave for a glass factory for a tour.

Following the tour he will leave for Fairmont and Morgantown where he will tour some more plants.

Monday afternoon he will go on a handshaking tour of the mining community of Osage and will cap the first day's campaigning with a reception at the Hotel Morgan in Morgantown.

Monday night he will leave for the Wheeling area where he will spend all day Tuesday. While in Wheeling he will speak at Bethany College and have a reception at West Liberty State Teachers College.

Following the tour of Wheeling, Kennedy will fly to Beckley where he will spend the night.

On Wednesday the Democratic presidential hopeful will visit Beckley, Mt. Hope, Oak Hill, Fayetteville, Gauley Bridge, Montgomery, Cedar Grove, Cabin Creek, Charleston and Huntington.

Kennedy will resume his West Virginia campaign on April 25 for three more days.

Revercomb Says Underwood Act "Bossism" Sign

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Chapman Revercomb said Sunday Gov. Cecil H. Underwood's endorsement of Harold Neely for the GOP nomination for governor "smacks of bossism."

Underwood endorsed Neely at a dinner meeting of state department heads last week.

Revercomb noted Underwood is running for the U. S. Senate and said, "I think it's wrong from the public viewpoint, for one running for the Senate to get over into any of the statewide races."

Revercomb made the statement while being interviewed on a Charleston TV program.

"I think his decision is ill-advised," he said. "It's the very thing the governor criticizes in his predecessor. Governor Marland. It was wrong then and it's wrong now."

When asked if some sort of statewide organization will be put behind Neely because of Underwood's endorsement, Revercomb replied, "What other purpose could there have been to announce at a meeting of employees of the statehouse other than to impress them with the idea of being for my opponent."

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: I'm a girl, 13½ years old. I don't consider myself a baby any longer but my folks do. They think I have to have a sitter when they go out at night.

For the past few months the sister has been a 19-year-old college-boy who lives in the neighborhood. He has made some fresh remarks and has told me some jokes that weren't very nice. To be honest, I feel uncomfortable when he's in the house.

There's no lock on my bedroom door so I go into my bathroom, bolt the door, put a pillow in the bath tub and try to sleep until my folks come home. The bath tub is kind of short and I don't get much rest.

I don't want to tell my folks how I feel because I may get the kid in trouble and he really hasn't done anything wrong. Please, Ann, tell me what to do.

—KRICK IN MY NECK
DEAR KRICK: It sounds as if the sister needs someone to sit with him.

This is what to tell your folks: The boy is nice but you'd prefer a girl sister—as sort of a substitute big sister.

If this doesn't get any action tell them a few of the sister's jokes and credit the source. That'll do it.

DEAR ANN: I teach psychology and do well solving the problems of others—but I can't solve my own.

I'm what is known as "the Perfect Listener." Consequently I attract the most loquacious, long-winded, boring people in every group. I get stuck in corners at parties, collared in vestibules, nailed in doorways, trapped on the telephone, and frankly I'm tired of it.

Everyone says "Lois, you have such PERFECT understanding!" Or "Lois, I just love to talk to you—you're such a comfort!" Both ears are tattered and ragged. What shall I do?—HEAR YE

DEAR HEAR: Paste up those tattered ears and stay with us. Doll. The world NEEDS you! I know, because of the number of people who pour out their hearts to me, that this world is "The Perfect Listener" is a dying breed. You are performing a greater service than you know. Don't leave your post, Soldier.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several years ago my husband built a nice business from scratch. He felt sorry for his brother who had lost one job after another, so he took him into the business.

The brother has borrowed large sums of money from the business for "emergencies." He has never paid it back. My husband says he'd rather forget about it than start any trouble.

A few months ago the brother took his own son into the business without even consulting my husband. The son has an obnoxious personality and has already lost some key accounts because of his big mouth.

My husband is getting ulcers from all the aggravation. What shall we do? Please don't suggest we get out of the business. Remember my husband started it.

—C.C.T.
DEAR C.C.T.: Regardless of the face that is shown to the outside world, relatives who feed from a common trough usually have deeply hostile feelings. If the men get along then the wives don't. Of course there ARE exceptions, but they are rare as hen's teeth.

My advice is to buy the brother out or insist that he buy you out. This is no way to live.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—With both sides vulnerable, your right hand opponent opens with one diamond and you hold:

♠AJ 10 5 3 2 ♥6 4 2 ♦7 ♣AK 2

What action do you take?

A.—One spade. While this hand is slightly better than a normal opening bid, we nevertheless prefer a simple overcall to the take-out double. It is our belief on this hand that unless partner is able to take voluntary action there will be no game, and a vulnerable overcall even at the level of one should be treated most respectfully by partner.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠Q 5 2 ♥A 9 8 6 2 ♦KQ 10 ♣J 6

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. This hand is indicated for the purpose of acquainting partner with the high card values possessed by the partnership. A mere bid of two no trump by you at this point would be regarded as a bid made under some pressure. The jump is therefore recommended to describe that you have an above average hand.

—0—

Q. 3—You are South, vulnerable, and you hold:

♠KJ 5 ♥AKJ 9 3 ♦K 10 6 ♣K 4

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North
1 ♠ Double Pass 3 NT
Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—It is quite clear that East has thrown a red herring across your trail. Your partner's hand is vulnerable to a very good opening bid. Remember that he could have shown a strong hand by jumping to two no trump. His jump to three, therefore, shows a hand of great value. We would be inclined to take our chances on a direct slam bid, but surely we would bid at least five no trumps.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠AK 9 3 ♦AQ 6 4 2 ♣A 10 6 2

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades. This is a close choice between a jump shift to three clubs and the reverse bid of two spades with our preference leaning toward the latter call. Although partner's no trump response over a diamond would make it appear likely that he fits one of the minors, he could conceivably have some four-card spade holding and worth knowing. We can always bid clubs subsequently should it prove expedient.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

♠8 4 ♥K 9 6 3 ♦KQJ 9 ♣K 6 5

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♦ ?

What do you bid?

A.—Double. Your hand figures to produce about five tricks and your trump are good enough to draw some of East's. If you miss a game by the double, the compensation should prove more than adequate.

BRIDEY MURPHY REVISITED?

We have our own definition of 'auto hypnosis': "A deep trance induced by the sight of a fine car!" If you are susceptible, be prepared for 'rapture' when you visit us. Stepping gently across the prostrate forms of those who have already fainted with joy, you'll catch your breath when you get into one of our values and take it for a trial spin. When you come back breathless with admiration we'll provide any needed oxygen.

Fire Destroys Farm Building, Burns Acreage

Horse, Auto Lost In Sunday Blaze

A fire believed of incendiary origin which destroyed a combination garage-barn in neighboring Washington County, caused the death of a horse and the destruction of an automobile and burned about 100 acres of the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club property before being brought under control about 6 p.m. yesterday.

William H. Johnson, who was recently promoted from district forester to assistant state forester in charge of forest fire control, said the blaze started about 2 p.m. yesterday in the garage-barn of Thomas McCombie. Mr. McCombie, who was away from home at the time, believes the fire was the work of an arsonist.

High winds and dry foliage combined to encourage the spread of the fire to the adjacent land of the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club.

Crews from the State Department of Forests and Parks, headed by Brook Bodkin, senior forest supervisor, and Thomas Dixon, forest ranger, brought the blaze under control about 6 p.m. Seven units from the department, equipped with a tractor and plow, eventually controlled the fire with the assistance of other volunteers, numbering about 75 men.

Others who battled the fire included volunteer firemen from Hancock, Berkeley Springs, W. Va., and McConnellsburg, Pa.; employees of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission and a crew from the Pennsylvania Glass Sand Corporation near Berkeley Springs, equipped with a tractor.

Mr. Johnson said two new crews from his department were sent to the scene, not far from the Allegheny County line, about 10 o'clock last night to relieve those who had been on the job since the fire started.

Mrs. Nellie McCue, housekeeper at the club, said a horse, two hogs, a police dog and a flock of chickens perished in the burned-out buildings and a truck was destroyed in a garage.

City Pressed For Policy On Sewage Service

Tax Payment Plan Under Consideration

The Mayor and Council is being urged to adopt a policy in connection with sewage service for non-residents.

The question as to what policy is to be adopted in connection with allowing persons residing outside of the city to tap city sewage lines has been under discussion at City Hall for a number of months.

There are a number of non-residents now tapped onto the city sewer lines and are paying 75 per cent of their water bills for the sewage treatment services.

Such non-residents are now paying a slightly higher rate for water than residents ($10 a quarter minimum as opposed to the city's $5.40) and the sewage service charges are correspondingly greater.

One suggested policy which the Mayor and Council is being asked to consider is that if a non-resident wishes to use city water and city sewage services, he would pay at the same rate as city residents if he agrees to pay city taxes on half of the assessment for his property, or all which is located outside the city limits.

The City, officials are advised, has many applicants from residents living outside who wish to tap into municipal sewage lines.

Several months ago city officials announced that no such city services would be provided in the future for non-residents. The decision, however, was never formally adopted.

Commander Davis also made several appointments following his election. They are Edgar A. Turner, sword bearer; William M. Keefe, standard bearer; John T. Reid, warden, and Charles A. Feezer, Albert M. Kalbaugh and Bernie T. Heishman, guards.

Commander Davis said the illustrious Order of the Red Cross and the Order of Malta will be conferred on a class of candidates tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Masonic Temple.

Mr. Larrick said such equipment would be useful at the annual county fair as well as other events.
